

Crescent Gold

A NEW estimate of 346,000 ounces of gold has been set for the Sickle deposit, located near Laverton in Western Australia. Crescent Gold (CRE) said it would now move to complete a bankable feasibility study because the resource was adequate for pit design and reserve estimation. Further infill drilling was expected to enhance the economics of the project, the company said.